FOREWORD

As a part of the research on 'Foreign Education Providers in India' the Higher Education Unit is bringing out the Directory on Foreign Education Providers in India. The objective of the Directory is to fill up the gap in the information relating to foreign provision of education. This is an important dimension of higher education system in India and it is least researched as well. I hope Directory will not only fill the information gap but it will also generate research in this area.

The Directory was compiled under the supervision of Prof. Sudhanshu Bhushan, in charge, Higher Education unit. The project staffs, Dr. Nilay Ranjan and Subrto Kundu, undertook the compilation. I thank them.

The Ministry of Human Resource Development, Government of India, supports the research project. I thank Ms Bela Banerji for the support and encouragement during the compilation of Directory.

Pradeep Kumar Joshi
Director
NIEPA

Preface

A new dimension is added to the Indian higher education structure due to the presence of Foreign Education Providers. The movement of the institutions from one country to other country to provide foreign degree appears in the recent phase of internationalisation of education during 1990's. The growth of foreign institutions/Universities providers in India is in collaboration with Indian partners that are mostly in the private sector. It is also restricted to the big cities. As internationalization of education is said to promote knowledge across borders it is considered desirable to understand this phenomena. The Directory of Foreign Education Providers in India is one such step in this direction.

Is the role of foreign education providers an important vehicle of knowledge transformation? Do they fulfill the objectives of higher education? The present trend of mushrooming of foreign education providers became an important concern for the country. The present operation of Foreign Education Providers is totally unregulated. These institutions are guided by their own norms; follow their own criteria of quality and course content. In other words, we can say that they are basically guided by the market norms. Its role in the host countries may diminish the quality and equity issue in higher education unless steps are taken to improve its quality and make it coherent and relevant. These necessitated creating a data bank on the foreign education providers as the first instance.

Foreign Education Providers in India is currently ongoing research in the Higher Education Unit of NIEPA. As a part of the research it has made an attempt to understand the phenomenon in some depth. The compilation of the foreign education providers in India is a part of the informed discourse. The list may not be exhaustive. The methodology of compilation heavily relied on personal visit. Information were also downloaded from the website. This volume was possible after visiting different parts of the country by our research team. We received tremendous support from the different institutions and individuals. I thank all of them for their support. However, this is a maiden effort and this list of foreign education providers is far from a complete picture. We hope that the response this initiative generates helps us to bring out a revised and more comprehensive edition next time. Any comments on the Directory are most welcome.

I thank Dr. Nilay Ranjan and Subrto Kundu, Project Assistants, for their untiring efforts in compiling the Directory. Dr. Kausar Wizarat and Vijay Vrat Arya visited institutions in the course of collecting the information. D. Kamaraj managed the entry of data. I thank all of them.
